Morse Industries Offers New Architectural Catalog Featuring New Products

Kent, WA – May, 2009 – Morse Industries, a national supplier of extrusions and metal components for the glazing industry, has published a new Architectural Catalog with an expanded product line. Among the new products featured are the PanelGrip™ Dry Glaze Glass Rail System, GlassWedge™ Dry Glaze Glass Railing System and an expanded Frameless Shower System product line.

Morse Industries new PanelGrip™ Dry Glaze Glass Rail System uses a base that is 30% lighter than traditional base shoes. This system allows users to quickly assemble structural glass railing without messy fillers or special tools making installation a snap. resulting in significant savings in both labor and shipping costs.. Our new GlassWedge™ Dry Glaze Glass Rail System allows users to xxxx.

Morse's new frameless shower products showcase the natural beauty of glass using a European style header & connector, as well as hinges and door pulls in all the latest finishes. In addition to these items, the new catalog contains the entire Morse Industries product line including glass railing systems, mirror hardware and trims, slide track systems and fixture components.

“At Morse we pride ourselves on creating product solutions. While we offer a full complement of industry standard items, we can also provide custom solutions through our “Value Added” program,” stated Susan Fleury, Marketing Manager. “Through this program we work with customers to design a product specific to their needs, including any additional fabrication, assembly or packaging..”
